Our stay at Decatur was pleasant and prolonged. A drive of 8 or 10 miles in the country gave us a view of the fine lands, nice and well improved farms, and large fields of fine corn for which this section is prolonged. A drive of 8 or 10 miles in the country gave us a view of the fine lands, nice and well improved farms, and large fields of fine corn for which this section is noted.

Monday was the commencement of Fair week, and a siroll around the beautiful grounds enabled us to see a lot of very fine stock. The people of Illinois evidently take great interest in good and fine stock.

We met with some old friends from Kentucky, from whom we received marked attention. But we must bid adieu to Decatur. So leaving on the 4:30 train this morn- commenced on the 14th inst. and will coning we arrived at East St. Louis about 8 tinue until the 19th. After spending hours here we started back by another route and visited the Reservoir, situated on an elevation 176 feet above the level of the city, contains 64 million gallons of water, and yet this is only a sort of reserve—being only about 21 days' supply for the city-and an aid to the main water works, plainly seen from here, at a distance of seven miles, and 70 feet higher than this reservoir. For these particulars we are indebted to Capt. Smith, the Superintendent, a Kentnekian and an old river man, who apparently took much pleasure in paying attention to strangers and especially Kentuckians, and we are glad to know, according to Dr. Bell's theory, that GEO. in his elevated position he is entirely above the reach of yellow fever.

At night we found a pleasant and comfortable home at the Planter's House, oldfashioned in appearance but fully up in everything else.

NELSON JOLLY, senior, departed this life September 25, 1878, at the residence i John B. Jolly, near the Falls of Sinking see2.

He was born in Hynes' Station on the 20th of February, 1786. His passits emigrated from Pennsylvania to the mouth of Bear Grans, now Louisville, in the yest 1784. In the year 1785 they moved he Hynes' Station, now Elizabethtown—he's he was born. In 1789 he, with his parents, moved for Hardin's Fort, now Hardinaburg, where he remained until Indian hostilities ceased; then they moved onto a farm, about one and one half miles away; hese he remained in the practice of farming until 1806. He then went down the Ohio over to New Orleans on a flat bont with Robert Stevens, and walked home through the, then, Indian Nations. In 1811 he was married to Stevens, and waiked home through the then, Indian Nations. In 1811 he was married to Miss Harbara Barr, and settled on a form near Hardinsburg. In the fall of 1813 he volunteered in Captain Jo Allon's company, Colessi John Allen's regiment, and General 1906 for brigade, Kentucky militia. In 1906 in 1906 for a month of the company of the company of the company of the company of Indians, bears, and wolves. In 1817 he bought and moved onto a form of Shrkins cock, one mile from where a farm on Sinking creek, one mile from where he died. Here he raised a large family of children. At his death his posterity numbered, count-ing his children, his grandchildren, his great-grandchildren, and his great-great-grandchildren, nearly two hundred souls. Among whom is a county court clerk, a lawyer, a preacher, merchants, and farmers. In the Federal army ten men; in the Confederate, not one. He served two terms a Justice of the Peace and two terms as High Sheriff, under the Ohl Constitution; which included almost half of his long life. He was cutlrely blind for seventeen years. He died a pious and good man, in the full assurance of hope and a blessed immortality. Ninety-two years, seven months and five days of age.

OBITUARY.

MRS. MATILDA HARDIN was born June 9, 1819, and departed this life September 18, 1878. Our hearts are filled with grief when death comes and takes from us some beloved one. Yet, even in our sorrow, it is pleasant to think of the peaceful close of a Christian life. For more than thirty years Sister Hardin had been by the best workmen. Religion never was designed To make our pleasures less."

Not that she was worldly-minded, or that she loved the gay pleasures of earth, but that amid loved the gay pleasures of earth, but that amid the sorrows and disappointments of life, she was cheerful and happy. This feature of her disposition made her a pleasant companion for the young people, who always found a hearty welcome at her home. We would not forget to mention another trait of her character, that of an untiring energy. She possessed a frail looking body, but one that was capable of executing the purposes of an unbending will. This made her a successful house-keeper. She taught her children by example as well as by precept the importance of being industrious. She sufferered long and severe. But in all her affliction she displayed Christian fortitude and resignation.

The next cossion of the Conference will before her death one of the neighbors came in and prayed with her. She was very happy and shouted the praise of God. She died without a doubt in regard to the fature welfare of her soul. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord." She lead to the dead which die in the Lord. The Lord. The Lord. The Lord. The Lord. DEAR SIR—I had a very severe attack of Fever and Ague, or Chills and Fever. Quinine was prescribed in large doses by my physician, but failed to cure me or be of any benefit. Ma-Gill's Chill Cure, Tonic and Appetizer was recommended. I procured one bottle, and by the time I had used a few dozes the disease was broken, and I am now completely restored to health. A member of my family was soon afterward taken ill with the same disease, and was quickly corred with a few dozes from the same bottle. Gus. Lancaster, a jockey, was cured by a few dozes from the SAME bottle, and the fourth person, sick with the same disease, is now using some of the medicine remaining in same bottle. I regard it the most valuable medicine I ever used, a splendid tonic and powerful appetizer. It did not cause any noise or buzzing in any head, as was the case with the quinine I used. I never before used a medicine which had such a splendid effect, and I willingly and cheerfully give it my indersement.
